STORY PART 1A CURIOUS DISCOVERY

The morning sun sparkled across Crystal Blue Lake as Finn, Ollie, and Lila played near the shoreline.

“Race you to the old driftwood log!” shouted Finn.

Ollie adjusted the little goggles resting on his forehead and hurried after him.

Lila laughed as she followed behind.

Suddenly Finn stopped.

“What’s that?”

Half buried in the sand was a weathered wooden tube tied with faded blue ribbon.

Ollie carefully brushed away the sand.

Inside was a rolled-up piece of parchment.

“A map!” he exclaimed.

The old paper showed a winding trail leading toward Lantern Shore.

In one corner were the words:

Seek the light.
Find the treasure.

The three pups looked at one another.

⇒ An adventure had begun. ⇐

STORY PART 2

FOLLOWING THE CLUES

The pups followed the trail shown on the map.

Past the willow trees.

Across the little wooden bridge.

Along the sparkling riverbank.

At Lantern Shore they discovered an old lantern hanging from a weathered post.

Attached was a small note.

It read:

"The greatest treasure is not gold.
Look around you."

The pups searched everywhere.

No treasure chest.

No jewels.

No coins.

Then Lila smiled.

"I think I understand."

She pointed to the lake, the trees, and the blue sky above.

"We already have the treasure."

Finn looked around.

The beautiful world around them truly was a treasure.

Just then Ollie noticed another note tucked beneath the lantern.

It read:

More adventures await.

The pups cheered!

Their adventure was only beginning.
